2. Paragraphs 2, 4, and 5 of [REDACTED] memorandum are particularly pertinent, and the suggestion made in paragraph 5 merits serious consideration. I agree with [REDACTED] that OTR can do something constructive in the area of interview-interrogation training.

3. Excepting the tabulation on page 2, nothing in the SR paper pertains directly to the Orientation, Management, Operations Support, or Clerical Training courses. The "too much detail" criticism implied in paragraph 5, d of the SR paper is very generalized, and I can see no clear application to Intelligence School courses.
